Green Technology Adoption and the Business Cycle

Jean-Marc Bourgeon*2,1 and Margot Hovsepian2

2Centre de Recherche en Économie et Statistique (CREST) – Ecole Polytechnique – France
1UMR Économie Publique – Institut National de la Recherche Agronomique - INRA (FRANCE), Polytechnique - X – France

Abstract

We analyze the adoption of green technology in a dynamic economy affected by random shocks. Uncertainty and firms’ beliefs have an effect on private investment decisions. We characterize the impact of economic uncertainty on the expected time and on the likelihood to reach a targeted level of environmental quality and we derive the value that should be given to the environmental quality to avoid an environmental catastrophe.

Keywords: theory

*Speaker